BRUNY ISLAND

Tasmania, Australia • www.islandshacks.com

WELCOME

Welcome to Carrington Cottage, at Dennes Point on the northern tip of Tasmania's famed Bruny Island.

Family, friends and guests have enjoyed this cosy holiday cottage and its idyllic beachside setting for more than ten years. We are certain you will, too.

If you love Carrington Cottage, you may also love our other 'island shack' - Spring Beach Holiday House, near Orford on Tasmania's East Coast. In the family since the 1970s, and fully refurbished in 2016, this house has million-dollar water views and sits virtually waterfront on pristine Spring Beach.

Enquire about our special deal for staying consecutively at both our wonderful island shacks.

THE COTTAGE

DENNES POINT

DINING AND ART

Enjoy superb views and fine food at the licensed Jetty Café, and local artists' work at the Art at the Point gallery, both a few minutes' walk north of the cottage.

WILDERNESS AND WILDLIFE

Bruny Island is a world recognised birdwatcher's paradise. All 12 of Tasmania's endemic bird species are found on the Island. Around the cottage, especially at dusk, look out for native mammals (Eastern quolls, wallabies, pademelons and echidnas). Schools of dolphins travel the D'Entrecasteaux Channel.

SAILING AND DIVING

The Channel is recognised as one of the world's finest waterways and cruising grounds. A launching ramp is located on Nebraska Beach, 100 metres north of the cottage, and a jetty is 350 metres away. We also offer, free of charge, our own all-weather, fully-maintained mooring directly offshore from the cottage.
